THE FIVE GREAT PLAGUES.

"The world is afflicted today by five great plagues: The negation of authority, hatred among brothers, thirst for pleasure, disgust for work and forgetfulness of the supernatural objects of life." These are the words of Pope Benedict, uttered at a reception tendered him by the Sacred College at Rome.

It makes little difference that the words were spoken by the highest representative of a particular creed. Their truth is universal, like all truth, and they may well be considered by people of all nations and creeds.

While the indictment is plain, the hopefulness of the outlook is no less manifest. Man has fallen into the habit of thinking his present troubles due to mighty circumstances, beyond his control and shrouded in mystery. They are, in fact, due to the same old human faults of selfishness, indolence and the emphasizing of the material over the spiritual. The remedy is just as simple—industry, faith and unselfishness, which leads the individual to direct his actions and his thoughts in accordance with the common good.

If the world turned to the practice of these three things, there would be no need of cumbersome machinery to cure its ills.

It is reported that De Valera may resign. Resign from what?

Enrico Caruso, the great tenor who is critically ill with pleurisy, has six physicians attending him. Grand opera stars are wonderfully constituted.

The Missouri State Federation of Labor and the Associated Industries of Missouri have agreed upon the text of a Workmen's Compensation Bill which they will ask the Legislature to pass at its coming session. This bill is accepted as fair and equitable to both employers and employees.

Governor-elect Hyde has announced that he favors a special session of the legislature to convene immediately upon the close of the regular session, to enact the necessary legislation to carry out the purposes of the constitutional amendment authorizing a bond issue of $60,000,000 for road building.

Advertising is Cumulative.

"An overwhelming majority of successful advertisers do not get immediate results that are tangible enough to be figured up on an adding machine. Advertising is a building-up process. It is cumulative. Advertising may run for months before it pulls very much. All we know is that in the long run advertising pays if it deserves to pay, and it always fails if it deserves to fail."

An Agreeable Surprise.

"About three years ago when I suffered from a severe cold on my lungs and coughed most of the time night and day, I tried a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and was surprised at the promptness with which it gave me relief," writes Mrs. James Brown, Clark Mills, N. Y. Many another has been surprised and pleased with the prompt relief afforded by this remedy.

Where it Started.

Three hundred years ago, the Pilgrim Fathers and Mothers, having spent their first night on the inhospitable and cold shores of Capt Cod at a site which is now Plymouth, began asking each other the question—"Where do we go from here?"

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

This remedy is intended especially for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough. From a small beginning its sale and use has extended to all parts of the United States and to many foreign countries. This alone is enough to convince one that it is medicine of more than ordinary merit. Give it a trial and you will find this to be the case.

Building and loan associations in Missouri showed considerable growth during 1920, according to figures announced by the state supervisor of building and loan associations. There are 179 such associations in the state, with total assets of $40,863,168.52.

Indigestion, Biliousness, Constipation.

Chamberlain's Tablets have restored to health and happiness hundreds who were afflicted with indigestion, biliousness and constipation. If you are troubled in this way give them a trial. You are certain to be pleased for they will benefit you.

Mrs. W. J. Shinn and Mrs. Nell Holwell went to Kansas City Friday morning for a few days visit with relatives.

Mrs. Thompson Penn left Friday morning for St. Louis, for a visit with her daughter, Mrs. R. O. Cranston.

Field For Teachers. The best paid high school teachers in Missouri outside of large cities, are the teachers of Vocational Agriculture. The salaries of such teachers range from $2,000 to $3,000 a year. These teachers must have had practical experience on a farm and must have had training in an agriculture institution which gives courses approved by the federal and state authorities.

The Missouri College of Agriculture has, now in attendance, more than 100 young men preparing themselves for teaching Vocational Agriculture in Missouri high schools. There are now 73 such schools in Missouri. This number will be increased as the demand grows. Teachers intending to qualify for this work should write to the College of Agriculture for further information.

Passing The Buck.

Titus Teeterfoot was infuriated, but the editor of the Western Wind shut him up in two seconds. "Is this the newspaper office?" inquired Mr. Teeterfoot.

"It is," responded the man at the desk. "Didn't this paper say I was a liar?"

"It did not." "It did not." "Didn't it say I was a scoundrel?" "It did not." "Well, some paper said it." "Possibly it was our contemporary down the street," suggested the editor, as he picked up a paper weight. "This paper never prints stale news."—Ex.
